

Why unsightly furniture is replaced at about this time—

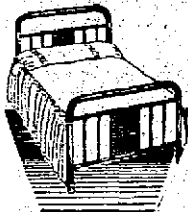

There are several reasons why unsightly or old-fashioned or uncomfortable furniture in the home can best be, and should be, replaced right about now.

One of the reasons is that the lowest prices in years prevail right now.

The other reason is that housecleaning time will soon be here—and we all want our home to be bright, modern, comfortable with new, attractive, comfortable furniture.

When replacing your no-longer-wanted furniture remember that, through our Exchange Department plan, you can turn it in as part payment on your purchase of new furniture, or rugs.

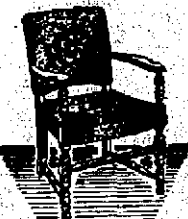

Modern furniture means more beauty in the home, more comfort in the home, more cheerfulness in the home.

Beware of Certain Kinds of Furniture

The most dangerous thing a store can do is to sell upholstered furniture that is not honestly built beneath the covering.

We know this, and we bear it well in mind when we buy. The manufacturer must show us, so that we in turn can guarantee you.

On our floors right now we have as nice a display of upholstered davenports, chairs and rockers, occasional pieces as you could wish to look at. It not only has the air of luxury and refinement, but it is luxurious, reliable, comfortable and honestly built. We guarantee it.

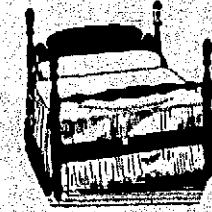

There are many good values here you will find when you call. You can spend a pleasant half hour here, even if you come only to look.

CHICAGO MINISTER GUEST AT SERVICES

Father of Evangelist Takes Part in Revival at Local Church

Central Christian church was filled last night for the revival service which the Rev. J. L. Day of Chicago has been conducting at the church the last two weeks. The opening prayer was made by the Rev. Charles Oakley, pastor of the Jackson Boulevard church of Chicago and father of Victor Oakley, single, evangelist with the Rev. Mr. Day. A vocal duet was given by Mrs. Hays of Menasha and Mr. Oakley. In answer to the question why did Christ die? the evangelist, in his sermon on "The Cross and the Crown," said Calvary was the great passion drama of the world, whose motive may be told in four words: sin, love, heroism, victory. The cross marked the turning point in the world's history. Its influence upon moral and social life had been revolutionary. It was both an end and a beginning. The Rev. H. F. Stevens of the Calvary Christian church closed the meeting with prayer. "Tonight the evangelist will preach on 'If Christ Came to My Town'." A special feature of the program will be the young people's chorus directed by Mr. Oakley. Sunday will be the first day of the special meetings, and every effort is being made to exceed the daily attendance of the Bible school last Sunday.

Seven members of Good Cheer Circle, Kings Daughters of Epworth M. L. church were present for a meeting last night at the home of Miss Zelma S. Greenleaf, 101 South Grand. A short business session was followed by a social hour. The

The general secretary of the Paris news-within ten years there will be a statue of for the matter the French couldn't erect statues to one who proved a greater friend to France and the French people.

Safety-at-Sea Conference

The present week witnessed the opening in London of the International Convention for Safety of Life at Sea which is expected to result in an international agreement looking to the result indicated by its name. The agreement was originally drawn up in 1911 but was never placed in force owing to the breaking out of the World War. The original conference was called as the result of the sinking of the Titanic with its appalling life loss. It is something of a coincidence that the present conference was called so shortly after the Vestis sank off our eastern coast taking with her 110 of her passenger list and members of her crew.

It is said to be the very general view of marine experts that, despite all the many devices which have been introduced to safeguard travelers at sea, the surest way to be seen the possibility of life loss is to make ships as nearly unsinkable as possible. It is the existing view and belief that while there can be no such thing as an unsinkable ship the nearer the approach to it the greater is the chance of saving the lives of those aboard should accident occur. That even in cases where it is necessary to take to life boats the longer the vessel remains afloat the greater is the chance of lowering and lifting them safely.

While comparatively little of the shipping of the world is American, few of America have an interest in the London gathering for the reason that we of all the world are most given to ocean travel—over a million sea voyages were made by Americans last year —and the further reason that, whatever the conclusions reached by the conference and the consequent safety measures agreed to, knowledge of them will be had before the work of construction of the big fast liners planned by the United States Lines, Inc., is inaugurated and thus they will be at the date of their launchings in full accord with all that is deemed best to prevent life lost at sea.

Regarding Recognition of Russia

Practically coincident with the announcement from Washington that Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee plans a reintroduction of the regular session of congress in December his old resolution for the recognition of soviet Russia came word from a source here that Vice President Henry Wall of the American Federation of Labor had sent a memorandum to Secretary of State Clegg urging a continuation of the non recognition policy announced by Mr.
Hughes during his able service as secretary of state.

In his memorandum Mr. Wall attacked the foreign policy association which has commenced every movement favoring of Ameri-kanism holding that it is steadily working for recognition of the bolshevik so-called republic and flooding the country's industrial centers with pamphlets containing misstate-ments of the American position with relation to Russia.

It is quite apparent the labor leader said in his memorandum that there are persons and organizations who believe the despots of the soviet have a better chance of gaining their objective now than they had before the change of our national administration a view with which he and his trade union colleagues refuse to agree.

If a large number of governments have recognized the soviet, Mr. Wall continued in spite of their active and openly declared hostility and their failure to live up to their international obligations (this has been due to the foreign policy association pamphlets admit to expediency).

Quoting the association as saying that the bolsheviks are not merely the cognized or non recognition of the soviet government but also the possibility of the existence of it not of the cooperation of the capitalistic and the communistic systems.
Mr. Wall concludes his memorandum by saying:

It is only the soviet the Communists and the Socialists that call our democratic form of government capitalistic. Nor is it our objection to the soviet that they represent as they claim a communistic system.
The objection is that they are not a national government, as understood in international law but an international sect which has served and is using Russia for its purposes through a lawless dictatorship.

With reds growing discontent and sedition among the needle working trades of New York City with Communists and embassies of Moscow fomenting strikes in the cotton textile centers of the South with the unknown influences spreading red propaganda in the Northwest and in that regard nothing hand in hand with their fellow agents of Russia across the border in Canada Mr. Wall's memorandum was as timely as the senator's announcement was untimely. A man who shrewd as the senator is in many ways might have been expected to realize that the present was hardly the psychological time for making his announcement but possibly we are right in assuming as we have at times that the senator forgets himself and what would naturally be expected from him under an urge to crowd into the rays of the spot light of publicity. If we are right in thus assuming it is unfortunate that he can not satisfy that impulse in a way carrying less hazard to the welfare of the country.

Sooner or later says Mary Carden the talking movies are going to finish opera not only here but all over the world. Possibly this dread fate might be averted off for a time were some of our opera stars to give less effort when off the stage to breaking into the spot light.

If Lillian Gish of the Amarillo News Globe is a mere socker after notoriety in referring to Lindbergh as a swell head and charging that Mary Carden is so old that she follows as we strongly suspect it must have pleased him a bit to get under Mary's skin sufficiently to cause her to utter a come back. Who ever imagined that Mary would fall for an old one like that?

When those responsible for the rough-handling of six policemen assigned to keep order among the 10 delegates to a com-make themselves known I expect of Police Chippa had the whole kit and caboodle of them slammed into prison. We can not state regarding the legality of Mr. Chippa's course but there is no question of its effectiveness.

A British trawler after an hour's hauling at one of its nets off Yarmouth brought up the net in rags but containing a freshly broken piece of a fossilized fish five feet long and two and a half feet in diameter which its skipper believes is a part of the skull of a mammoth imbedded in the floor of the Solent. Rather goes to confirm the contention of the scientists that the body of England was at one time connected by land with the continent of Europe.

Justified of heeding the pleas of a number of aspirants for his job that the seventy-five-year old public executioner of France is too old and is unable to handle an execution ar-though he has never hanged any of the hundreds at which he has officiated the

WAITING FOR HIS SHIP TO COME IN.

Waiting for his ship to come in.

Don't Defy Health Rules.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND M. D.
Once in a while you read something that gives you a funny feeling. Just now I saw a sentence of this sort in a newspaper. How does it strike you?

"Laws are better enforced than laws for the protection of human life."

Man is regarded as a free moral agent. That is in no way regarded in respect to most things. Of course many laws are enacted to control his conduct but in most of his doings and not doings he is left to himself.

But the laws for the protection of life same are enforced strictly. It is not safe to shoot deer out of season or to take home the unlicensed fish.
But many laws intended to protect human life are too frequently more honored in the breach than the observance. This is a pity.

Nothing can be more precious than human life.
It makes me sad when I observe the many and serious violations of the laws intended to guard health.

In enlightened communities the officials make pretty consistent efforts to enforce the laws and ordinances enacted to protect human life. And often however efforts at enforcement are spasmodic and half hearted. This is a mistake.

As regards health there are many laws that exist long before men thought in terms of health.
I refer of course to the laws of nature. These are the first of the unwritten laws. They always have been and always will be.

Nature is kind and patient. She will forgive a good deal. But just as sure as you are born she will call you to account for continued misuse for habitual violation of the laws of health.

Many a bottleage is never caught. Thousands of numbers are never discovered. Burglars ply their trade and are never found by the police.
Man made laws are broken every day and in a percentage of cases nothing happens.

But that is not the way with nature's laws. She is more unforgiving than the most perfect adding machine. She records every failure of yours to observe her demands.

We forest this fact sometimes. We take a chance of getting pneumonia of having a fatal accident if you drink the blood. We wouldn't think of catching a trout out of season but we do not hesitate to violate nature's law.

The law does not require us to be likely to be observed. No hunting allowed is an admonition that is needed. But what about the sanitary law?
Never cough or sneeze with your covering the face?

We should help to enforce the sanitary laws and certainly should obey them. We owe that to society and to ourselves. It helps to lower the death rate.

Editorial Opinion

NO TAX REDUCTION NOW

President Hoover calls a halt to the tax reduction talk that has been going the rounds since March collections made an unexpected large jump.
He points out that a number of big money projects are now under way and that tax reduction should not be considered until more is known of their cost.

Of these projects farm relief, cruiser construction, Boulder Dam and flood control are the most important. The government is committed to all and must appropriate freely for all four.

The farm relief program alone will require a revolving fund of at least a quarter of a billion.
And there will doubtless be set up at the same time a farm board and machinery of price control that will be permanent charges against the treasury.

Cruiser construction is expensive. And flood control of the kind the country expected congress to undertake when the acute situation arose two years ago would easily wipe out any surplus now in sight and more.

And more is not done in connection with all these projects in the last two years may very well be due to the desire of the Coolidge administration to make a good financial showing at all costs. A time has now come when money must be spent for these purposes or our national policy regarding them frankly altered.

The president does well to face the facts. It is useless to talk tax reduction when increased expenditures are running into the hundreds of millions confront us. And although the president says nothing about it it is by no means certain that tax collections will remain at their high March level or that the surplus to which they have point will not prove transitory. —Cleveland Plain Dealer

CONGRESS AND FLOODS

Congress in next regular session will be subjected to increased pressure for appropriations for flood control.

The country's good part of it—has been suffering a recurrence of floods more of it than the Mississippi and Sacramento river terraces is involved. During the past few months loss of life and property has been impressive in various sections of the country. These localities will be heard from Florida for example may be expected to face local action. Florida certainly needs as assistance and General Jackson is with her to a certain extent. President Hoover also is expected to look with kindly eyes upon the claims in this connection of a state which followed his banner in the recent election.

Other localities are expected to put in their claims with reference to flood control. Local populations have eyes of interests which congress must recognize.

Flood control has become a matter for national concern. Existing laws must be broadened and new legislation perfected to meet this issue.

The people of the nation are long in awaiting to knowledge of the fact that destruction and destruction in any section of the country must affect the country as a whole. In this realization the government will be called upon to do what it may to correct and control an annual menace of life and property in many sections of the country. —Cincinnati Enquirer

NOT KEEPING UP WITH SCIENCE

The dilemma of our present civilization writes Professor Carl Baruch of Brown university to the American Philosophical society is that its advance in ethics and esthetics is not comparable with its advance in science.

Dr. Baruch is quite sure in his own scientific mind whether more good than harm would come from teaching the masses more science. Science tends itself to destructive ends as well as constructive and perhaps it might be well to consider to its present diffusion with until we get caught up on our ethical and esthetic side so as to be able to turn our scientific knowledge to the promotion of what used to be known as the good, the true and the beautiful.

There is no practical way however of shutting the current of scientific knowledge off from those who may possibly use that knowledge amiss.
Those who are disposed so to use it for ends of their own will get it in one way or another and the more the masses understand of the facts and principles of science the better will the right minded among them be able to protect themselves against its misuse.

In the meanwhile we can all agree with Dr.
Baruch that the particular need of the time is better civil law cleaner politics less obstinate credulity in politics and quicker and more urgent endeavor to lift the underdog out of his misery and into a life worth living. —Columbus Dispatch

The show boat craze hit New York with a bang. Most metropolises acquired the show boat atmosphere from Edna Kerber's show boat. And its musical comedy glorification.
A theater was turned into a show boat idea for several weeks this winter. The Hudson river is to have for the first time a smart show boat presenting well known names.

But away from the river landing the show boat performance is a dismal affair. It requires the background of the small town theater. The open air concert banjo lorch lights and picturesque characters of the water front to give it proper color. Even one so careful of details as Ziegfeld overlooked the best known feature of a show boat—the calliope.
A show boat without a calliope is like New calliope burst forth with its steaming rudiseasonal returns were awaited with far more eagerness than any theatrical offering in New York during a season.

Bits of Practical Science.

BY GARRETT P. SERVICE

With you please explain the following 1. Why do skates glide on ice and not on other smooth surfaces such as glass or polished metals? 2. Would a hollow metal ball sink a specific gravity slightly heavier than water sink to any depth in the ocean, or would it reach a point where the volume of air would prevent it from sinking deeper? 3. After a submarine has submerged is it possible to adjust the volume of air in its ballast so that the ship would remain at a without further adjustment?—C. W. Maywood Illinois

1.—Skates glide on ice not so much because the ice is smooth as because there is a discontinuity between the two surfaces. The skate cuts into the ice and creates beneath it a narrow pathway filled with compressed particles of ice over which the runner glides and between which and the smooth ice there is no attraction. Between the glass and the steel there is adhesion because of the very state of smoothness serves to make the two surfaces into intimate contact. If they stick. If the skate cuts a furrow the glass it will be less arrested and will glide almost as on ice for then the roughness of the broken glass prevents a close uniform contact with the steel. The pieces of metal pressed together and surfaces are made smoother thus bringing their molecules into closer contact.

2.—Inasmuch as there is a slight increase of density in water with increase of pressure with increase of depth it is possible to adjust the weight of a hollow ball to a weight of an equal bulk of water under a given degree of pressure so that the two will be in equilibrium at a certain depth. Because the increase of the density of water is so small that ordinarily a body whose specific gravity is sufficient to cause it to sink at the surface continues to sink until it reaches the bottom. This is true of ships sinking at sea.
As soon as the water fills their interior spaces their specific gravity exceeds that of the water can attain even at depths of several miles and they keep on sinking. The density of water has been found to increase about 1/10,000 part for each increase of one atmosphere in pressure. A depth of about thirty two feet corresponds to an increase of one atmosphere pressure.

3.—What has just been said shows that it is theoretically possible to adjust the weight of a submarine so that it may remain in equilibrium at a given depth the specific gravity of the water in which it is immersed being known. The ratio between the space occupied by air and the water ballast determines the specific gravity of the boat as a whole. When it is submerged it is possible to increase or decrease the weight of the boat by letting more water into its tanks or by blowing water out of them but I believe that the adjustment can not in practice be held with sufficient delicacy to keep the boat resting at a fixed level without the aid of its propellers. The practice is to ballast the water so that the boat is slightly lighter than the water it displaces and then to keep it submerged by means of its horizontal rudders. It is the tendency to rise. But these are technical details familiar only to the makers and designers of submarines and the tendency else in times of peace is to avoid unnecessary publicity about new developments. Copyright

NERVOUS GIRL SLAYS "TYRANNICAL MASTER"

Meriden Conn.—A diet mistake transformed by constant repetition into a veritable tyrannical monster threatened the health of Miss Elizabeth Zink, 1030 Broad Street, until she turned upon the brute and destroyed it. The story of her struggle, told in Miss Zink's own words, should prove helpful to thousands of others oppressed by the same tyrannical habit.

Caffeln was my master, who says the more I used the more I became. The more I used, and thus I continued the vicious circle.

It had come to such a pass that although well meaning, friends would place me in various substitutes before I would give a prejudicial sniff and cling to my caffeine and nerves.

Makes wager with friend Finally, I spent a summer at the shore with a friend who was trying to rid herself of a similar habit. To help each other we agreed to abstain for a month. The first one to give in was to pay a stiff bet.

I immediately set about selecting a substitute and chose Postum because its advertising interested me. I grew to like it. My nerves settled down and I didn't crave that something, the caffeine afforded.

The bet was a tie although after all my friend backed out for me. I slept every night through and tucked on an extra hour in the morning for good luck.

Meditations OF A Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

MENTAL CRUELTY
EVERY man and then some woman gets a divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty.

Lulu chatters mental cruelty covers a multitude of sins and there are many moments in every wife's life when she secretly wishes that she is its victim.

Just the way a man looks at her—or doesn't look at her—some times constitutes mental cruelty to a woman with a martyr complex.

He may be grasping the door knob and glances at his watch when he hears her goodybye morning.

He may be shooting the shingles up to the tops of the windows or slams the bathroom door or rattles his new pipe or gulps his coffee.

He may be arguing with the waiter over a two minute egg or sniffs critically at the food she puts before him or turns over his wife to see if it is done on the other side.

He may be kinder to him all and want to tell her what he's laughing at—or the way he yawns and closes his eyes as though he were waiting for a street car to go by when she starts to tell him something funny.

He may be gazing at her, around the house and into the cupboard or the box in which she keeps her new dress or trousers or the monthly bills as though he had never eaten at the table or slept in the house or left electric lights burning, himself.

He may be leaning on the arm of his chair or turns over and goes to sleep in the middle of an exciting argument or dozes all through a picture show.

He may be looking her over critically when she is all dolled up to please him and remarks that the seam in her stocking is crooked or that she's got on too much lipstick—and doesn't even tell her new spring hat!

He may be trying to read her letters over her shoulder or asks her what she's been doing with her time all day or nuzzles up the new spring or goes into a corner right after dinner.

He may be looking wasteful—at every pretty dapper on the street or at every pretty woman at the country club dance.

Little Angel Flew Over Prison Walls, Shouts Tex to Gang After Acquittal

Night Club Queen Wins Freedom from Nuisance Charge in Court

NEW YORK, April 12.—Texas Guinan, Broadway's official carter, entered (specific license) peacefully today, following a 45-hour strike in the cause of freedom.

Two days on the witness stand, an acquittal of the charge of being a nuisance and a celebration at her latest night club which would have made Texas burn his fiddle in ecstasy—that is what Texas had to remember or forget in her dreams.

The court charge was off at her Club Intime where ordinarily the dawn comes up with a gold-plated table check in its jaws. Texas held open house in the semi-private lounge where she regularly even the tobacco smoke has an economic status.

TEXAS GUINAN

Texas looked the government again and was strutting her heels.

"They said I was a nuisance and I showed I was a lady," she shouted. "I'm everybody's sucker tonight and I want the waltzers to all down with the guests and if they don't get happy I'll give 'em a lull."

Texas was in a glowing mood. Although the 10 other defendants in the alleged liquor nuisance charge against the Salon Hayale had pleaded guilty, she chose to battle for freedom—and she won, even against the stiff charge to the jury by Federal Judge Edwin Thomas, the "tough judge" from Connecticut.

Over the Walls

All the Guinan alumni were gathered in the two-by-four retailed canopied tent which one pays for by the yard. The doors were thrown apart and preceded by a gay-tinted band playing "The Prisoner's Song," Texas appeared in a triumphal procession of one.

This living link between the moon and the sun was dressed in a tawny colored evening dress, and a gold sequin skull cap. A poppy on her shoulder strap. Everybody cheered—but most of all the waiters, checkers, bouncers and unlisted retinue.

"Hello, Gang," greeted Texas, home once again and looking tenderly homesick. "Your little angel flew over the prison walls. Texas kissed everybody within the reach of her diamonds.

The second charge covers the amounts of farm product sales he is accused of converting to his own use over the same period of time.

His successor in the home is to be named shortly.

Ask the Salesman this Question:

EVERY prospective motor car purchaser should ask every salesman he talks to, this question: "What is the price of this car, delivered to me, fully equipped with all the equipment?"

You should also ask what the difference is between the factory (f. o. b.) price and the delivered price—and then ask what that difference buys.

Heretofore it has been customary for factory prices to cover only the bare car. This permits the dealer to sell you your bumpers and the other accessories, at retail prices.

Nash, in introducing the new "400" (10 Sedans from $954.00 to $2250.00, delivered, 8 Coupes, Cabriolets, Victorias from $954.00 to $1800.00 delivered)

Series, pioneered a new practice, by installing this extra equipment at the factory, at no extra cost to you.

When you ask the suggested question you'll find most salesmen (not Nash salesmen) reluctant to answer. They would rather not say how much more there is to pay, or what the extra money buys.

And you'll also find that by reason of the Nash policy, Nash "400" delivered, fully-equipped prices are much lower than those of many other cars with the same factory (f. o. b.) prices, and lower than some cars with even lower factory (f. o. b.) prices.

HUPMOBILE reduces all prices $55.00 to $260.00 to give the motoring public immediate advantage of HUPMOBILE'S new expansion program

Early in January HUPMOBILE acquired a new plant in Cleveland, comprising more than a million square feet of modern and advanced automotive manufacturing facilities.

This was the first step in HUPMOBILE'S 1929 program of expansion, giving HUPMOBILE a doubled production capacity for its famous Century cars.

Now comes the second step, that of passing along to the public the economies which HUPMOBILE'S extended production plans make feasible.

These price reductions embrace all models in the 1929 HUPMOBILE Century Six and Eight lines and range from $55.00 to $260.00.

Consistently, for more than twenty years, HUPMOBILE has won and held its public by fine motor car quality at notably low prices.

But today, in this new schedule of prices, HUPMOBILE stands head in value-giving.

About 3,800 Acres To Be Sown in Hardin County; Growers Ask Increase

It's a little early in the season to be thinking about swimming but then there are those little "private" bathing parties that are held in somebody's back yard most any time of the year. Of course, the back yard is really a beautiful garden of which the huge swimming pool is a small part. For wear in such luxurious surroundings the new type of "garden" frock was designed. Beach pajamas are out of place away from the sunny sands and so these new frocks for wear over bathing suits are offered. They're made of materials indifferent to sun and water and hugo floppy hats are worn with them. The model in the window has draped over her left hand one of the new swimming suits with tuck-in circular trunks and a "sun-hurst" cut-out neck with back ties.

DIRECTOR CONSIDERS TRAFFIC EQUIPMENT

Strayer Undecided on Style of Traffic Signals and Street Markers

Marion will have three new traffic light signals and 150 stop signs, if bonds now being sold by the city are awarded to one of three firms who submitted bids several days ago. When these lights and signals will be purchased and installed is not yet known, although it will not be less than two months from now.

The three traffic signals will be installed at the intersections of M. Y. Strayer and 100th St., Pearl St. and Bellefontaine St., and Silver St. and Oak St. A single signal suspended from the central point of the intersection may be used rather than the lights installed at the side of the streets on poles. This is still under discussion.

No choice of stop signs has been made, although those so constructed as to reflect auto headlights at night are desired by W. H. Strayer, director of public safety. Approximately 150 of these will be purchased, though not all will be installed at present.

A suitable system for marking the streets on which angle parking will be permitted has not yet been decided on. At present the choice is between rows of metal discs which are driven into the pavement, or paint. Director Strayer points out that either would be useless if the streets were not cleaned frequently. Markers for streets with two-hour parking limits and for sections of streets on which no parking is allowed have not yet been designated, although work on this will begin when the weather permits. It is probable that streets to be torn up in the course of improvements will not be marked until after the work is completed.

JOHN CLARK RESIGNS FROM COMMISSION

MARION RECREATION BALL TEAMS NAME
DIRECTORS OF SPORT

New President To Be Chosen at Meeting Monday Night

BY DON ELLIOTT

A FACE familiar to all recreation ball players since the sport had its inception in Marion will be absent from the president's chair in the commission meeting room this season. John H. Clark, Marion attorney who has served on the commission since its organization here at a meeting of the recreation ball managers and captains last night Clark resigned from the commission which he directed successfully for the past several years.

Clark, who well might be called the father of organized recreational baseball in Marion, said that he felt that he had done his duty toward the sport here and that it was time for him to disappear. His absence from the commission this year will seem a bit strange although the fine condition of the sport which he leaves here will undoubtedly carry it through.

Mr. Clark has been president of the commission for the past few years and under his supervision the commission has functioned better than ever before.

There were more than 80 representatives present from the different teams in the city at the banquet last night, the fourth annual recreational meeting that has been held. Mr. Clark, the retiring president of the commission, was in charge of the election of the new commission.

It took exactly seven ballots to elect the 12 new members of the commission. The commission is composed of 12 members with F. O. Rudolph, athletic director of the Y. M. C. A., being a member each year without election.

Eleven of the 12 members to be elected were named on the first ballot. There were 34 present who were eligible to vote for members of the commission. This made a vote of 17 necessary to elect a man a member of the commission. On the first ballot there were two men who had 16 votes each for the seventh position, one short of the necessary number. For the next two ballots no one received a majority and at the start of the sixth ballot, the voting room took on the aspect of the convention headquarters with every body making flowery speeches for their favorites. With the conclusion of the sixth ballot, a dark horse in the

3 Ohio Teams, On Way Home, Lose Exhibitions

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 12—Manager Jack Hendricks and his hand of Hoosiers, last night, lost their exhibition series to the American association Indians here yesterday, 10-1.

A five hit in the fourth inning gave the Hoosiers a commanding lead over the Reds, and enabled them to coast to victory. Burdett, Indian pitcher, allowed the Reds nine hits but was strong in the pitcher's box while the win was made every one of their 10 outs good for a run.

The Senators will rest today, and will play two exhibition games with the Cincinnati Reds here tomorrow and Sunday.

TOLEDO, April 12—The Toledo Mudhens of the American association are at home today with nothing to do. The second exhibition game with the Montreal Maple Leafs was called off yesterday on account of rain and the Canadians left for home last night.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 12—The Cleveland Indians were to attempt to redeem themselves in their second game with the Birmingham Barons here today. The Barons won yesterday's game, 8 to 5, by virtue of errors and misplays by Carl Lind, Luke Sewell and other Indian players. Willis Lindell, who started the game for Cleveland, pitched well, but George Grant, who followed him, was hit fairly by the southerners.

COLUMBUS, April 12—Manager Harry Lichold and the squad of Columbus Senators were to arrive home today, after having ended their road tour yesterday at Knoxville, Tenn., losing to the Knoxville person of W. H. Stranahan had taken the forfeited twelfth place.

Due to the fact that the election took so long it was decided that the commission could not hold its organization meeting last night. Secretary Rudolph called a special meeting of the newly elected commission for next Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. The commission will elect officers at this time and discuss probable changes in the rules.

There were 11 different teams represented after the election of the commission had been tabulated. Norris Celsinger, representing Epworth M. B., received the largest number of votes cast for any one candidate, 29 out of a possible 34. Others elected were Leo Keller, Salem Evangelical and Erie; Earl Smart, Epworth; Ed Jones, Erie; H. O. Smallwood, Wesley; P. M. Cunningham, Presbyterian; W. N. Harter, Leo Street Presbyterian; William Fabian, Salem; Shovel, St. Mary's; J. I. Meredith, Fairfield and Epworth; W. D. Martin, C. D. & M.; Frank Gibson, Calvary; Marion Star, W. D. Seranton, United Brethren, Osgood.

CLAIMS TOO MANY COLLEGES PAYING ATHLETES TO PLAY

He cited boxing, wrestling and horse racing as some outstanding examples of these. Efforts have been made to clean up the race game but boxing and wrestling remain, on the most part, a sham, he said.

The spirit of amateurism can be saved, the speaker pointed out, through proper education and the backing of really amateur organizations of the country. If the present tactics of some schools continue, he said that people would refuse to give financial support. He pictured the ideal of college athletics the lowest since 1915.

In continuing, Boles stated that we must have sports stand for something else but victory. He stood up for the hard loser, one that takes defeat with the idea of coming back stronger for a win the next time. The term "being a good sport" is highly abused. There are few good sports in the country and nine out of 10 that claim the distinction are really the opposite.

Protection of amateur sports should start with the education of the young people of today, Boles said. Through this method a complete change in the sport will be brought about in a few years.

His definition of sportsmanship includes the following: "Gentleness on the part of the star in promoting team play, attitude toward opponent and attitude toward the game and officials."

Turning to recreation ball, Boles said that the sport is sweeping the country by leaps and bounds. It is one of the most popular of intra-college sports in colleges and the year's hard ball that was so popular a few years back. He said that recreation ball shows promise of superseding baseball as the national sport of the country.

Lack of exercise and overwork were given by Coach Boles as the cause for most of the illness today. He said that recreation ball was the greatest opportunity for every young man to have.

BY KARL R. McILROY
Sports Editor, The Star

THE "professional" amateur brought on by the overwhelming desire of colleges and high schools for winning teams was flayed last night by L. C. Boles, athletic director at Wooster college, when he made a plea asking for the preservation of amateur sport throughout the nation in a talk at the annual meeting of Marion recreation ball teams at the Y. M. C. A.

He said the average paid football player becomes little more than an "athletic bum" upon his graduation from college. Instead of producing the highest type of manhood, the colleges are defeating their own purpose, the speaker continued.

Boles characterized amateur sport as being all sham in which the athletes get $1,000 or so on a fake billiard match in order to finance their college careers. Such tactics, he stated, are doomed as the people of the country awaken to the fact that all is not well in athletic circles and that the time honored amateur is little more than a professional surrounded by mystery.

The professional element, Boles continued, has ruined some fine sports.

MALONEY DEVELOPS INTO CONTENDER FOR HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE

Remarkable improvement in one and one-half year period

April 12 — James Maloney, dynamite in a year and a half ago, is now a contender for the heavyweight title. The same crowd that counted 10 before Maloney's fight with Jack Sharkey in Madison Square Garden last year, is cheering him and his manager as the next heavyweight champion.

Good Front Fighter

Maloney always was a good front fighter. It was when he was on the losing end of the fight with Sharkey that he found it difficult to fight back. But it is a different Maloney now. Everyone remembers the fight with Jack De Mave in which he knocked down eight times in three rounds and yet came out on the count of 10 before the one spectacular knockdown.

It was more than six months before De Mave fought again. He has learned to sidestep and to take the heavy blows of his opponent. He is not the catcher of punches that he was. Instead of taking a punch and then punching back, he now punches and punches back. He has improved his boxing and his boxing has improved his boxing. He has learned to sidestep and to take the heavy blows of his opponent. He is not the catcher of punches that he was. Instead of taking a punch and then punching back, he now punches and punches back.

Old Reliables Will Need Extra Help From Rookies to Pull Cincinnati Through Race

Red Lucas Expected To Advance to Stardom This Season

BY QUINN HALL

CINCINNATI's hopes in the 1939 baseball grand depends considerably on what extra driving power Jack Hendricks can pump out of the new rookies he had working, out for him at Orlando Florida earlier in the year.

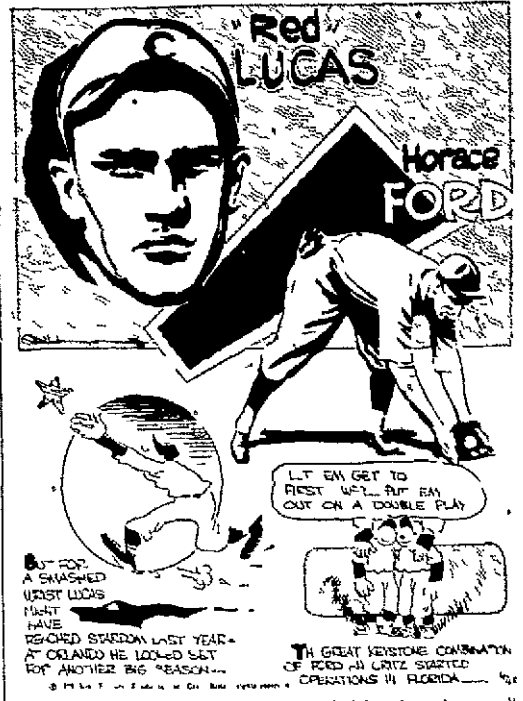

Your roving correspondent picked team up in the two games against the A's at Miami which they won, even and later at St. Petersburg when they rather humbled the mighty Reds.

A YOUTHFUL outfielder named Crabtree socked out a couple of homers in the opening tilt at Florida's big fight town but he didn't appear against the Yanks at St. Pete. The young star had strained a muscle or something and was on the shelf when the Reds met what was referred to last season as 'The Third League Crabtree' is scheduled by Hendricks as a likely starter in the season's campaign as he had a mark of .333 in the Western League last year and looks capable of giving the Reds extra batting strength.

Then there's Lew Spang who cracked the onion for .416 on the coast as a likely outfielder and Walter Sauer who has been up a couple of times and has brought his uke into fast company for another shot.

ANOTHER young gardener is Jack Hill who bails from the University of California. Some of these fellows may help toward building up the hitting power at Cincinnati.

Red Lucas seemed to be rounding into great form while the club was at Orlando. Red was knocked out of commission at an important moment last year when he was clipped by a fast one in batting practice and his wrist was broken. Many fans put that injury down as the reason why the Reds finished no higher than they did last season. On doubtfully Lucas is one of the most capable moundsmen in the older circuit. But for that injury the popular idol of Cincinnati might well have reached stardom in 1938. The fact that Lucas was forced to the sidelines for a month rather disheartened the Reds but he looked great at Orlando and may be headed for bigger and better performances during the coming summer league.

Red Lucas and Horace Ford. Lucas is expected to advance to stardom this season. Ford is a likely starter in the season's campaign.

Donohue Wiley Mar and Kelp were all rounded, into good form and Hendricks had several rookie pitchers striving for a job.

LAST year Hendricks had the fastest working double play combination in the big leagues. As a result Earl Critz to Kelp became almost as famous as Linker to Liers to Chance back in the rather misty past. Two Reds succeeded in breaking up all double play records last season and in their recent exhibition games they were already starting the 1939 season with lots of speed. The double play is sure to elicit rapidly with this combination again this summer.

Before the term started north Critz and Kelp seemed sure of their regular infield berths. When we saw the club for Scripps who was touted to cover the hot corner hadn't shown up after his operation for appendicitis. The veteran Charley Dressen and Rube Lutzke a young,

Bathing and Melo just go together

The man, woman or child who bathes and doesn't use Melo to soften the water doesn't know what they are missing. Melo softens hard water. It makes a delightfully sudsy bath. It doesn't let the water form a dirty ring around the tub. That's good news to women who scrub off the dirty ring!

Water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner with or without soap. Melo saves soap too. From 1/3 to 1/2 the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap much more effective. Use it wherever you need soft water. Get it at your grocer's.
